

A GUIDE FOR WOMEN BUILDING FINANCIAL CONFIDENCE

The Confident Woman's Financial Checklist

Five areas to review so you can see where you stand today, clarify what matters most, and build a thoughtful plan for where you want to go.

1 Know Your Financial Picture

Before you can plan confidently for the future, it helps to have a clear understanding of where you are today — your financial life as a whole, not just individual accounts or statements.

- ☐ My approximate current net worth, including assets and liabilities
- ☐ Where all of my bank, investment, and retirement accounts are held
- ☐ How much I am saving and investing each year
- ☐ How my investments are currently allocated
- ☐ Whether my beneficiaries are current on retirement accounts and insurance policies
- ☐ Where important financial documents and account information can be found

ASK YOURSELF

If I needed a complete picture of my finances today, would I have the information I need at my fingertips?

2 Make Sure Your Money Reflects Your Priorities

A financial plan should support the life you actually want to live. That starts with being honest about how you spend, save, and prioritize your money.

- ☐ I understand what it costs to maintain my current lifestyle
- ☐ My spending reflects what is genuinely important to me
- ☐ I am saving appropriately for both short- and long-term goals
- ☐ I know which major expenses may be ahead in the next several years
- ☐ I have considered what I want retirement to look like — and what it may cost
- ☐ I feel comfortable enjoying my money today while still planning responsibly for the future

ASK YOURSELF

Is my money helping me build the life I want, both today and in the future?

3 Invest With Purpose

Having investments isn't the same as having an investment strategy. Your portfolio should reflect your goals, timeline, income needs, risk comfort, and tax picture — not just what the market is doing today.

- ☐ I understand why my portfolio is invested the way it is
- ☐ My investment strategy reflects my goals and timeline
- ☐ I understand the level of risk I'm taking
- ☐ My portfolio is appropriately diversified
- ☐ I know what I am paying in investment and advisory fees
- ☐ My investment strategy is coordinated with my retirement and financial plan

ASK YOURSELF

Do I have an investment strategy designed to keep me on track for retirement and my other important goals?

4 Protect What You've Built

Building wealth is only part of financial planning. Protecting yourself, your family, and what you've worked hard to create is equally important.

- ☐ I have an appropriate emergency savings fund
- ☐ My life, disability, long-term care, property, and other insurance coverage reflect my current needs
- ☐ My will and estate planning documents are current
- ☐ Healthcare and financial powers of attorney are in place
- ☐ My beneficiaries reflect my current wishes
- ☐ Someone I trust knows where to find important financial, legal, and insurance information if needed
- ☐ I have reviewed my estate plan after any significant life changes

ASK YOURSELF

If something unexpected happened tomorrow, would the people I care about know what to do and where to find what they need?

5 Build a Relationship With a Trusted Advisor

You don't have to navigate every financial decision on your own. The right advisor helps you understand your options, ask better questions, and create a strategy that evolves as your life changes.

- ☐ I have someone I trust to discuss important financial decisions with
- ☐ I understand how my financial advisor is compensated
- ☐ I know whether my advisor is acting as a fiduciary
- ☐ I feel confident that the advice I receive is aligned with my best interests
- ☐ I feel comfortable asking questions — even when I don't know the financial terminology
- ☐ My advisor understands my goals, priorities, family circumstances, and concerns
- ☐ My financial plan is reviewed and updated as my life changes

ASK YOURSELF

Do I have a financial partner who helps me feel informed, prepared, and confident about the decisions ahead?
